Shanley Denies Taking Part In Guard Checks Scheme

SCRANTON — Gerald E. Shanley Jr., yesterday denied any involvement in a scheme of forging and cashing National Guard checks.

The 42-year-old Scranton born Stroudsburg banker took the witness stand in U.S. Federal Court here to answer serious charges that he aided and abetted in forgery, uttering, false statements and using the mails to defraud while a National Guard officer.

Shanley, father of five children, was commanding officer of Co. A 109th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, during 1959 and 1960 when the government alleges the criminal acts took place.

Testimony of Shanley contradicted that of his former aid, Vincent E. Marek, Jr., Tannersville, who was First Sergeant of Company A when Shanley was commanding officer.

Shanley was undergoing direct examination by Atty. Edwin M. Kosik, when adjournment was taken until 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Barring any unforeseen developments, the case should get to the jury of six men and six women Tuesday or Wednesday.

Chief U.S. Judge Sheridan is presiding.

Visibly Nervous

Visibly nervous, Shanley, vice president of First Stroudsburg National Bank, took the witness stand at 11:54 a.m. after hearing himself accused of being a party to the scheme of forging and cashing guardsmen checks.

As his wife and other daily members looked on, Shanley told of his years of military service with the 28th Division and the posts he held with the National Guard.

Shanley testified that Marek did not tell him that checks of guardsmen were being diverted.

Wasn't Informed, He Says

The banker further said he was not informed by Marek or anyone else that improper addresses were being used on payroll vouchers in the scheme to divert checks.

Shanley said he didn't discover anything unusual on the payroll vouchers before signing them as company commander, Marek previously testified that Shanley knew of the address changes.

The former Co. A commanding officer likewise contradicted testimony of Marek that he gave permission to three men to miss summer training at Indian town Gap in 1960.

Checks made payable to the three were diverted, according to Marek, who testified that Shanley ordered him to forge the U. S. Treasury drafts.

Shanley testified he never instructed Marek or anyone else to forge checks and insisted that he was not aware of the practice of forging and cashing checks of men who did not attend encampments.

Marek's testimony as to the cashing of checks in a Stroudsburg diner Aug. 12, 1960 through a pre-arranged plan also was contradicted by Shanley.

Marek said Shanley arranged for the check cashing, which included the drafts of three men who were marked present but did not attend the full 15-day encampment.

Shanley insisted that wasn't so. He said supply sergeant Melvin Curtis of Co. A, was part of an advanced detail leaving Indian town Gap the night before the company was returning home.

According to Shanley's testimony, Marek said some of the men needed cash and their checks were advanced. It was normal practice to pay the guardsmen on return to home bases.

Shanley said Marek gave him (Shanley) the money for his check one of six admitted cashed at the Colonial Diner. He said he did not see the balance of the money which Marek testified he gave to Shanley Aug. 13, 1960 when Co. A returned from Indian town Gap.

Shanley said he did not know of any "slush fund" being administered by Marek and insisted he was not told the former first sergeant paid company bills from that outlet.

Shanley said company bills were paid from other funds, obtained from Monroe County and other donations.

At this point Shanley produced what he said was a work sheet which he said he used to make accountings to the 109th and Monroe County as to how the other funds were administered.

Loaned "A" $250

Shanley testified he personally loaned Co. A $250.

Born in Scranton Sept. 1921, Shanley said he has resided in Stroudsburg since 1940 and has been an employee of First Stroudsburg National Bank since March 3, 1960.

Prior to that he was engaged in the cigarette vending business.

Asst. U.S. Atty., Carlton O'Malley, handling the government's case called Arvilla Peters, Stroudsburg, as the first witness of the day. She is assistant secretary and teller at First Stroudsburg National Bank and testified of cashing a $50 check for Shanley on Aug. 22, 1960.

The check purportedly was from the DeMolay dance group for Army rental.

Ether Walters, Stroudsburg, a teller at the First Stroudsburg National Bank testified of cashing two checks for Shanley, one for $500, payable to Co. G, 109th Infantry and the other to Co. A Welfare Fund, she said.

Francis R. Drake, Delaware Water Gap, brought various records of First Stroudsburg National Bank, where he is cashier and vice president.

The records included deposit slips and ledger cards of Shanley's account, covering 1960-1961 period. Testimony of Drake was in connection with deposits by Shanley of various checks, some purportedly to be payments made for Army rental by the DeMolay.

Atty. Kosik has entered objections to this line of testimony, questioning relevancy.

The government had Drake go over the bank records to reveal various balances in the Shanley account in what was seen as the funds deposited for his own use.

Bank Account Records

An example of the line of testimony, Atty. O'Malley had Drake testify from the records that after a $25 check in Shanley's account deposited June 10, 1960, Shanley's bank balance fell far below that figure. He said that on June 12 the Shanley bank balance was $3 and June 16, a balance of 96 cents.

The $25 check was one of several listed as deposited in the Shanley account with the notation "J. Westcott." Earlier James Westcott had testified that he was chairman of the DeMolay dance group and had paid for Army rental, making out the checks in Shanley's name.

Photostats of checks issued by Shanley were brought into court by Drake on request of Federal government.

By agreement of counsel it was disclosed to the jury that checks from Shanley to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania totaling $810 cleared the bank as of May 8, 1961. The checks purportedly covered rental for the East Stroudsburg Army by the DeMolay dance group.

Atty. O'Malley offered into evidence various checks and bank ledgers as they pertained to Shanley as part of the government's case.

"Credibility"

The government rested its case at 11:46 a.m. and Atty. Kosik in a two-minute opening to the jury said "credibility" would be a major issue in the defense.

A. W. Osborne, a member of Co. A in 1959 and 1960, was Kosik's first witness. He testified of working most of the time in the company orderly room.

He was questioned in connection with a locked box in the orderly room at Indian town Gap the summer of 1960 where it was stated, paychecks were kept for safekeeping. He said he was not certain if Marek had a key to the box.

After Kosik finishes his direct examination, Shanley will undergo cross-examination by Atty. O'Malley. Kosik plans to call character witnesses in Shanley's behalf.

Reports are the government will have rebuttal witnesses ready next week in an effort to refute Shanley's testimony.

Closing statements by counsel for both sides will be followed by a change by Judge Sheridan before the jury gets the case.

Shanley is charged in 12 counts with being an aid or abettor,

Inquest Into Crash Death Of 4 Adjourned To Tuesday

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Coroner's inquest was adjourned yesterday until Tuesday at 4 p.m. when it was learned that one witness had not been served a subpoena.

Testimony from four people was heard by the coroner's jury before Daniel G. Warner, chief Deputy Monroe County Coroner, announced that word had been received that Paul G. Waring, a witness to the fatal accident on July 5 in Minisink Hills when four people lost their lives, had not been served a subpoena to appear at the inquest.

First to take the stand at the hearing in Monroe Courthouse was Forrest Graves of Stroudsburg. Graves told the jury, "My wife and I were driving down from Bushkill on the day of the fatal accident. We were going towards Marshalls Creek and were passed by the broad truck on Rt. 209. The truck passed us on a straight section of highway near the snake farm."

"We continued to follow the broad truck to Marshalls Creek where we, along with the broad truck made a left turn on Rt. 209. When the accident happened I have told police that I was approximately six car lengths in back of the broad truck. I saw a cloud of smoke and told my wife, 'There is an accident.' I drove past the scene to a point about 50 yards west of the scene and stopped.

"I got out of the car, walked back to the scene and saw the car and people in it and I knew I did not want to see it. I then drove to the Stroudsburg barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police and told them of the accident. I gave them a statement of what I saw."

Mrs. Pearl Jacobella of Shawnee was then called as a witness. Mrs. Jacobella said, "I entered Rt. 209 at its intersection with the road coming from Shawnee and past the Willow Dell (Legislative Route 4501). I waited until traffic allowed me to enter the highway and then proceeded towards Minisink Hills."

Head Crash

She told the jury that she signaled for a left turn and had to slow down to allow eastbound traffic to pass so she could make the turn.

She said, "I made the turn after two cars had passed and then I heard the crash." She did not state, nor was she questioned, if she returned to the scene of the accident.

James C. Sebring of East Stroudsburg, RD 3, driver of a gasoline truck owned by W. S. Peeney Inc. of Stroudsburg, was called to the stand.

"I was on my way back from Bushkill after making a delivery. I have found that traveling this route it is the most direct route back to the plant," was Sebring's answer to the question asked by Warner of how he happened to be in this location at the time of the accident.

Warner said, "Will you tell us what you know of the accident?"

Sebring said, "I saw a car in front of me signal for a left turn and I slowed my truck down and used my brakes. I was struck from behind, but not hard. I continued my truck. It is a truck designed to haul gasoline and my first responsibility after an accident is to check for fire. I did this and found no fire. I then went to the scene of the accident."

Sebring was questioned about his speed and about how far he traveled in his process of slowing down. He said, "I was going about 10 or 15 miles per hour when I was bumped. When I started to slow down I have told police that I was traveling at about 30 miles per hour and that my vehicle traveled about 100 feet from the time I first applied my brakes until I was traveling about 15 miles per hour."

Sebring told of several occasions when the driver of the broad truck pulled out "as if he wanted to see if it was clear to pass me" on the highway between Marshalls Creek and the intersection with the road coming up from Willow Dell."

He added, "At this time the highway was straight and he never pulled out to pass me. The highway was also clear, to the best of my knowledge."

Establish Time

Trooper Donald C. Kresge from the Stroudsburg barracks, Pennsylvania State Police was called to the stand to establish the time of the accident, its location and the point of impact.

Kresge told the jury that the time of the accident had been established, "as 12:47 p.m. E.S.T. and that the first call he received by radio from headquarters was 12:57 p.m. E.S.T."

He added, "The time has been established on the basis that it took about 10 minutes to travel there and also by a watch on one of the victims which had stopped at that time."

Kresge gave the location of the accident as, "Approximately 495 feet west of station marker 0 over 40 in Smithfield Twp." He stated, "The point of impact was six feet from the center of the highway in the east lane."

Atty. George Robinson of Stroudsburg, and driver of the broad truck owned by Spaulding Bakers, Drew Larry Welsh of Sugarland, RD 2, were present at the inquest.

Robinson said, "Let it shown in the record that Drew Larry Welsh is present as requested by his subpoena and that he will not testify on advice from his counsel."

District Attorney James R. Marsh told the jury that they should not draw any inference of guilt or innocence but that they should consider it as though he had never been subpoenaed.

Four Counts

Welsh is charged with four counts of involuntary manslaughter and will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Ruth Miller of Stroud Twp. on Tuesday at 1 p.m.

He is free on $4,000 bond pending the hearing.

Killed in the crash were Edward Marx Sr., 31, of Crompton; Edward Marx Jr., 5, of Crompton; and Mrs. Catherine Boker Crompton, 50, of Northampton, RD 2. Mrs. Mary Ann Marx, 26, of Crompton, died several hours later in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Injured were: Michael Csanek, 55, of Northampton, RD 2; Elizabeth Csanek, 8, of Northampton, RD 2; and David Marx, 10 months, of Crompton.

A spokesman for the hospital said last night that Michael was still in critical condition and that Davis's condition was fair. Elizabeth was discharged from the hospital last Monday.

Members of the coroner's jury are George Graff, Charles Cincotta, Millard Marsh, Chester Gross, Jack Baldwin and James Sommers.

Action Follows New Race Riots

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — National Guardsmen — acting under a modified version of martial law — rolled into this terror-ridden town Friday and, with a minimum display of force, ended a new Negro demonstration Friday night.

It was a marked contrast to Thursday night's reign of racial terror when six white persons, including three off-duty Guardsmen, were wounded.

Negroes and some white sympathizers, calling generally for equal rights and specifically for the release of two 15-year-old demonstrators confined as juvenile delinquents, gathered for a rally at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church.

Then 250 of them started a march toward the white section, in defiance of a ban the troops with fixed bayonets had been sent in to enforce—no demonstrations.

In a dramatic scene, Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston left a group of his Guardsmen and, unarmed, walked up the middle of the street toward the demonstrators.

Holding up his hand, he said: "The National Guard was brought here to protect all the people. If you violate the prohibition against demonstrations, you are demonstrating against the orders of the governor of the state."

The demonstrators sat down in the middle of the street and sang while armed Guardsmen watched from a block and a half away.

Then one of their leaders led them in prayer.

Gen. Gelston removed his hat during the prayer. Then he asked the demonstrators to go back to their church, and they did.

It was a day of swift developments.

Drastic new rules — tougher than the Guard's previous tour of duty here — were decreed. They included a 9 p.m. curfew.

The Guardsmen, numbering 400, split into small detachments and fanned out to potential trouble areas.

They were ordered here by Gov. J. Millard Tawes after Thursday night's outbreak in which six white persons were wounded.

Frequent gunfire had roared throughout the night in riotous scenes which began Thursday at a luncheon which Negroes and their white sympathizers have long been trying to integrate. Six of the sit-in demonstrators were slugged by a band of 25 angry white segregationists.

The upshot was that an area between the white and Negro sections of the city became a virtual no-man's land. On one side crowds of shouting white people gathered. From the other came shots in the night.

Gunfire

Automobiles roamed the streets, spitting gunfire. Among the six wounded, none seriously, were three off-duty National Guardsmen.

Gov. Tawes ordered the Guard to return to the city, which it had left only Monday after a 25-day tour resulting from previous violence.

The new military rules ordered into effect by Brig. Gen. George Gelston commander of the Guard included: no demonstrations of any kind, carrying of firearms prohibited, a ban on sales of liquor, beer, wine; all businesses must close by 7 p.m.; a 9 p.m. curfew; and all automobiles subject to search.

During the previous military rule, the general curfew was 10 p.m., the store closing hour was 9 p.m. There was no specific prohibition against firearms, and no order making cars liable to search.

Just before the Guardsmen began moving in, Negroes attempted a new demonstration toward Race Street which is the main street and divides the Negro section, with its 4,000 inhabitants, from the rest of the city, containing 8,000 whites.

The demonstrators dispersed, however, when Gen. Gelston read them the orders from Gov. Tawes and said:

"Militia law is hereby invoked until further notice."

Though Guardsmen carried fixed bayonets, they were not issued bullets for their rifles. An officer explained that this was "for reasons of safety," that "ammunition is issued only as a last resort."

Big Three Agree To N-Test Ban

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain completed elaborate—but still secret—plans Friday for a nuclear test ban agreement with the Soviet Union.

Three power nuclear talks held in Moscow Monday and two Western governments made it clear they place great hopes on the negotiations.

The U.S. Embassy issued a highly unusual statement saying President Kennedy's representative, W. Averell Harriman, is engaged on "potentially one of the most significant diplomatic moves of all times."

It said his mission to Moscow, where he was wartime ambassador, is "a sensitive and important diplomatic reconnaissance."

The British used similar terms in describing the task of their negotiator, Lord Hailsham.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in discussing the prospects of a test ban with a newspaper interviewer, said: "I can't think of anything more important at this time, either in itself or for East-West relations generally."

A few days ago in a statement to the House of Commons he pictured a complete test ban as the great prize which lay before the big powers.

Yet it seems from all indications that the best Harriman-Hailsham mission can accomplish is a partial test ban prohibiting nuclear explosions in all environments underground.

International inspection arrangements are necessary in the Western view to prevent cheating on underground tests. The Russians have balked at any policing provisions. They claim these would open the Soviet Union of spying.

Harriman and Hailsham are only empowered to negotiate a nuclear test ban. They are free to discuss—but not to bargain—on other subjects the Russians may bring up such as nonaggression treaty between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Warsaw Pact powers, or a commitment against the spread of nuclear weapons.

Harriman arrived in London Thursday night. His talks with Hailsham continued through the day.

In Ecuador

Arosemena Out; Ban Communism

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The military junta that ousted President Carlos Arosemena, calling him a drunk who sympathized with communism, Friday outlawed Ecuador's Communist party and vowed to wipe out pro-Castro Red terrorist bands plaguing the countryside.

The junta, headed by navy Capt. Ramon Castro Jijon, canceled presidential elections set for next June, proclaimed martial law and a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew and imposed strict censorship.

Made Fruitless Bid

The military rulers also hustled deposed Vice President Reynaldo Varea Donoso off to Panama, following Arosemena into exile. As chairman of the Senate, Varea had made a fruitless bid to summon Congress to challenge the armed forces takeover Thursday.

Col. Marcos Gandara, a junta member, said the military rulers probably will stay in power two years until a reform program is enacted by decree.

Creation of a cabinet was begun with the appointment of colonels to three key ministers. Castro Jijon said civilians may be given the other posts.

Col. Luis Agustin Mora Bowen became interior minister and, as such, is in command of the national police. Col. Aurelio Naranjo was named defense minister. The public works portfolio went to Col. Segundo Morochu.

Under Mora Bowen's command, police quickly rounded up an unannounced number of Communists and other leftists for questioning. Among those detained was Oswaldo Guayasamin, 43, a painter of Indian birth and left-wing leanings.

In Washington, the State Department said the United States has not yet recognized the new government.

Capital Is Quiet

The capital was quiet after the brief uprising Thursday which unseated both Arosemena, 44, and the man who ordinarily would have succeeded him, Vice President Reynaldo Varea Donoso.

It was announced three persons were killed and 17 injured in the shooting affray outside the presidential palace when troops and tanks moved in to back up the military demand that Arosemena quit. Two of the dead were soldiers, the third a civilian.

Two Turnpike Officials Charged With Corruption

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two prominent Democrats, one a Pennsylvania Turnpike commissioner and the other a former city councilman, were indicted Friday on charges developed in the continuing special investigation of alleged corruption in Philadelphia's city government.

Both men were linked to alleged sale of legislation in city council. The regular July grand jury also indicted a former scrap dealer in connection with a zoning change. The indictments were recommended by the special probe panel, which itself lacks the power to indict.

Named were:

—John F. Byrne, $13,000-a-year member of the Turnpike Commission who is secretary of the Democratic City Committee and a business associate of U.S. Rep. William J. Green, party chairman.

—Victor E. Moore, former councilman and now chairman of the Philadelphia Gas Commission.

—David Young, the scrap dealer,

Schools Ordered To Desegregate

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The school board in Birmingham, Ala., was ordered Friday to submit a plan for starting public school desegregation this fall.

It was the second Alabama school system to receive such an order from the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals this week.

However, the Birmingham decision stopped short of the order entered in the Mobile case, in which the court specified a step-by-step desegregation to begin in September with the first grade.

No grade was specified for Birmingham. Instead, the school board was told to use the state's Pupil Placement Act with no trace of racial discrimination in all grades.

USAF Aids In Dominican Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-insurgency tactics taught by the U.S. Air Force played a key role in suppressing a revolt against the Dominican government late last year, it was learned Friday.

An Air Force report credited Dominican fliers with halting the incipient rebellion near Palma Sola without firing a shot. News reports at the time said 42 were killed and 30 hurt but apparently this occurred prior to the aerial intervention.

It is the first known instance, outside the war in South Viet Nam, in which anti-insurgency techniques developed by U.S. Air Force specialists have been brought into play to preserve a friendly government.

Communist Talks In Russia Fail

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist Chinese acknowledged "with heavy hearts" Friday that their talks with the Soviet Union have failed but held the door open for new attempts to heal the widening breach in the Communist world.

"We want unity, not a split," the official Peking People's Daily said in breaking the silence that had shrouded the Chinese-Soviet negotiations under way in Moscow since July 5. But it said, "The present situation is very grave."

Railroad Talks Set For Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential fact-finding panel in the railroad work-rules stalemate finished setting organized Friday and scheduled meetings on Monday and Tuesday with both sides.

Then it set a target date of next Friday to give a report to President Kennedy so he can fashion legislative proposals for submission to Congress by July 22. July 29 in the railroads' tentative date for putting into effect work-rule changes which the unions say will bring an immediate strike.

2 Boys Killed At NE Exchange

LEIGHTON, Pa. (AP) — Two teen-age boys were killed and two others hurt when an automobile crashed into the rear of an asphalt-laden truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike's Northeast Extension Friday, about eight miles north of the Mahoning Valley Interchange.

The dead were identified as John Russell Smerda and Joseph Francis, both 17 and both of Moosic.

Two companions, not identified, were taken to Allentown General Hospital.

Turnpike officials said another passenger car crashed into the wreckage but apparently no one in that vehicle was injured.

Orphaned 7 Doing Fine

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two years after they were orphaned when their father died in an auto crash, the seven daughters of George Schaefer are fine, happy and still together.

Six are living with a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Kate Schaefer, and her daughter, Elizabeth.

The youngest — two-year-old Georgette — is spending the summer with an aunt in nearby Philadelphia.

Mrs. Schaefer said today "everything is fine and we're getting along well. Next week we will go away for a little vacation."

Five of the girls will be in St. Michael the Archangel School next fall — Eleanor 11, Linda 10, Barbara 8, Marie 7 and Janice 5. Pamela was just 4.

"The grandmother said 'Eleanor misses her mother most because she was very close and remembers her well. We visit the cemetery every once in a while because I don't want the girls to forget their parents.'"

The mother died in March, 1961, during childbirth.

Air Tragedy Plane's Fault

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) — The Navy says a faulty generator was a factor in the jet crash Sunday that killed seven picnickers near the Willow Grove Naval Air Station.

Capt. A. C. Waldman Jr., commander of the air base, said the generator failed and was one of the reasons the pilot was unable to control the plane and bailed out. He said a board of inquiry would detail the entire cause of the crash when it has completed its task.

Waldman made the statement at a meeting of the liaison committee of Horsham Township, a citizens' group formed to maintain contact with the base, which is in the township.

The FJ-Fury fighter, crashed into a day camp just beyond the base's main runway. The camp was crowded with members of several family cousin's clubs on outings.

One way to prevent recurrence of the crash is to acquire more land for runway space, Waldman said. He said land should be purchased as a "safety corridor."

The 10,000-foot runway is used for all jet landings, and most other landings at the base, Waldman said. He defended the use of the base for jets, asserting jets have a better safety record than propeller-driven aircraft.

Scranton OK's Harness Exit

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Scranton administration proposal to free additional funds for backfilling abandoned anthracite strip mines was passed Wednesday by the House.

It would permit use of uncommitted money in the fund created by fees by anthracite strip mine operators for such backfilling operations.

The mine department estimated about $116,000 of the some $250,000 left in the fund would be available for backfilling. The remainder was earmarked by law for other expenses.

Strike Waiting Period Bill

HARRISBURG — An 80-day waiting period to allow for labor and management to settle disputes before a strike is provided in a bill introduced in the Pennsylvania State House of Representatives Thursday.

It also provides for a committee to study whether a public utilities strike would seriously hinder the operation of community resources. Public health and safety organizations, including electrical service companies and transportation companies would be affected by this legislation.

Striking Police Officer Felony

HARRISBURG — A bill signed into law by Gov. Scranton Thursday states that anyone assaulting a police officer while he is on duty will be guilty of a felony.

Rooney Rips Scranton For $50,000 Election

EASTON — State Sen. Fred B. Rooney suggested last night that "the proper name for Governor Scranton ought to be $50,000 Bill."

"That's the money the Governor is taking away from the voters and taxpayers in the special election July 30th," Rooney said.

"The Governor knew when he set that date that there was absolutely no reason the election should be held now. He knew it would be held during the peak of the vacation season — and he is willing to go to any length to deprive the voters of this district of their Constitutional rights by playing upon the apathy the experts say always holds force during a special election," Rooney said.

"But the Republicans don't care about the amount of money they sock the taxpayers for — in special election costs, in the highest sales tax in the Nation or by cutting unemployment compensation," Rooney said.

"They are using every petty trick in the book to try to buy or steal this election," Rooney charged. "But they are not going to get away with it. I think the voters of this district realize the importance of this election. They want a strong, experienced voice in the Congress and no one — not even the Republican Governor of Pennsylvania — is going to keep them away."

Sen. Rooney Jibes Bartlett For Reference To Franklin

WILSON — "There are two candidates for Congress in the 15th District and neither one of them is named Ben Franklin," State Senator Fred B. Rooney said yesterday on a walking tour of Wilson Borough.

"The New York Republican who is running against me for this seat has tried to alibi the fact that he is a stranger to Pennsylvania and this district by charging that Benjamin Franklin was not born here, either," Rooney said.

"If my opponent were Ben Franklin, then it might not be so bad, but he is not. He is an assistant to the assistant personnel manager of a big corporation and he has never, in any way, taken an active part in the public life of this district," Rooney said.

"It is quite true that Ben Franklin was not born in Pennsylvania, but neither was William Penn. But these men have been dead for more than two hundred years," Rooney said.

"It is not surprising, of course, that the Republican candidate for Congress should try to hitch his wagon to a great and prominent man such as Franklin who lived in the 18th century, because that is precisely the philosophy he and the men who picked him to run represent," Rooney said.

Record 490 Placed By Jobs Office

STROUDSBURG — Officials of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service stated that during June the Stroudsburg Local Office placed 490 persons in employment and accepted applications for work from 971 applicants.

This is a record for the local office for any comparable period.

Most of the placements were in the resort industry and the applications filed were principally out of area residents seeking work in the Resort Industry.

John P. Dougherty, manager of the local office, stated the record achievement was due to expansion in resort employment and an increased desire of applicants to seek resort work.

During June the office received 594 job openings and referred 963 applicants to employers. Dougherty stated that there is a severe shortage of Cooks, Bakers and experienced waitresses and waiters over 21 years of age and the local office is using 20 other State Employment Offices to help meet the Resort Industry needs.

Openings also exist for inexperienced waiters and waitresses who are available for work until at least mid-October. Persons interested in the positions may apply at the local office located at 408 Main St., Stroudsburg or at the Mount Pocono Office at the Casino Theater Building, Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Steelworkers Sign New Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union announced yesterday it has signed a new agreement with Crucible Steel Co., extending its contract until May, 1965.

A steelworkers spokesman said Crucible was the first steel company outside the "Big 11" to reach agreement with the union. He said the contract extension conforms in general to the recent basic steel agreement.

It covers some 9,000 employees at plants in Midland, Harrison, N. J., and Syracuse, N. Y., he said.

Girl, 18, Jailed As Shoplifter

STROUDSBURG — Charlotte Iovino of Brooklyn, N. Y., who gave her age as 18, was arrested by Stroudsburg Police at 3:48 p.m. yesterday and charged with shoplifting.

It was learned that she stole a bathing suit valued at $5.99 from the Woolworth Dept. Store of Stroudsburg. Officials of the Woolworth store made the charges.

Brought before Justice of the Peace Floyd W. Kellogg, she pleaded not guilty in a preliminary hearing.

A formal hearing was called by Kellogg, at which time she was found guilty of the charge of shoplifting, based on testimony by William Simmons, assistant manager of the store.

Miss Iovino was committed to the Monroe County jail for five days in default of $39.99 bail.

Urban Gas Tax Share In Doubt

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill to give urban areas a larger share of the state's gasoline tax money was revised in the House yesterday to the point where it appeared headed for defeat.

An amendment placing a freeze on the program, which involves some $37 million a year, for rural areas was slipped into the bill.

The amendment would guarantee that no municipality would lose any money as a result of a change in the formula on which the distribution of the state money is based.

The bill proposed to revise that formula so that urban areas would receive about $1.2 million more, at the expense of rural areas.

The freeze would mean the money would have to come out of the highway fund, instead, thus raising the total allocation to $38 million.

The amendment was adopted on a voice vote. When urban Democrats became aware of the development, it was too late. Minority Leader Anthony J. Petrosky, D-Westmoreland, had agreed to adoption of the change, explaining later he thought it was non-controversial.

Bartlett Sees Rooney 'Desperate Candidate'

STROUDSBURG — "My opponent sounds more and more like a frightened and desperate candidate, who, unable to talk issues, is forced to resort to innuendoes and half-truths," Robert G. (Bob) Bartlett told a group of his Monroe County supporters yesterday.

The Republican Congressional candidate warmed up to his subject by stating that his opponent "in his wild swinging and reckless campaign oratory blathers on about his determination to enforce the use of radar on Pennsylvania highways. I would like to know just what this has to do with the Congress of the United States. He is using the chamber of the State Senate as a hollow sounding board for his campaign press releases which are of absolutely no interest to his colleagues in Harrisburg and are a callous waste of the taxpayers' money."

"He perverts our call for an honest and honorable policy toward Cuba as 'war-mongering.' If he thinks that anyone who disagrees with the Administration's vacillating policy toward Cuba is 'war-mongering' then I suggest he read what former Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley has to say on this subject in the July issue of Reader's Digest."

"Pretties On" Bartlett continued, "about our Governor putting out an order for wholesale discharge of state personnel in advance of the election when the truth of the matter is that the Governor is firmly committed to a policy of moderation and orderly transition with no regard to the type of political spoils system that marked the Lawrence and Leader regimes."

"If the facts were known, my opponent's camp is disturbed and alarmed by the rising tide of rank and file enthusiasm which is beginning to rise in our behalf in every corner of the 15th District. I am particularly amused at the confusion which has arisen regarding the phony Cadillac raffle recently exposed in Northampton County as well as his efforts to deny being a hand-picked Bill Green candidate."

Bartlett concluded with a plea for his opponent to "get down to the real issues and stop ranting on about radar, state politics and other completely irrelevant matters. I hope he starts to deal in facts, not fiction."

The GOP candidate attended a rally held in his honor last night in Barrett Township. Today (Saturday) he will spend the bulk of the day in Bethlehem in a door-to-door campaign and will attend a coffee at the home of Mrs. Luther Reber in that city.

Bastille Day Fete
MONTREAL, Que. (AP) — French Canadians will hold the biggest Bastille Day celebration outside France on St. Helen's Island in Montreal July 14, the Montreal Parks Department announced.

According to Thomas J. Nottle, Bushkill Township police chief, Santee slowed to make a left turn on to Rt. 4804 when the truck driven by Bittenberg was unable to stop in time and struck the right rear of the car. Bittenberg steered the truck onto the right shoulder, then hit the Santee car on the right rear portion. The truck, loaded to capacity with slag from Bethlehem Steel, caroned down a 6 foot embankment.

Traffic was disrupted for four hours while two large heavy cranes were used to right the truck and return it to the roadway. Bittenberg will be charged with reckless driving, according to chief Nottle.

Two Conservation Awards Presented At ESSC Meet

LEIGHTON — Ralph Kreamer, Jr. of Leighton was awarded the Non-Farmer Conservation award by the Keystone Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America at its annual meeting held at the East Stroudsburg State College last night.

Kreamer was cited for his leadership in soil conservation, including articles he has written for the Call Chronicle newspaper in Allentown on the topics concerning fire and erosion problems of conservation.

Kreamer was recently named television publicity director for the soil conservation society, and he is one of the five directors of the Carbon Co. Tourist Bureau. He also was recently named member of the Leighton Chamber of Commerce.

Bartlett Praises 'Warm Reception' In Stroudsburg

STROUDSBURG — Robert Bartlett, Republican candidate for Congress from the 15th district, opened his Stroudsburg campaign headquarters 5:40 p.m. yesterday with a thanks "for the wonderfully warm reception" he has received in the Stroudsburg area. About 30 attended the opening.

Mayors of Stroudsburg and East

Stroudsburg Joseph Small and Thomas Kistler participated in the ribbon cutting ceremonies. Handling out pieces of the ribbon after the opening, Bartlett said "these are for good luck."

Bartlett visited homes, food stores, resorts, and handicapped persons in Mountainhome, Canadensis, Cresco, Skytop, and Buck Hill Falls before coming to the opening. He also toured the Tobyhanna Army depot.

After the opening, he left for the Barrett Township "Barrett for Bartlett" picnic and square dance. Mrs. Ruth Slutter, GOP candidate for Monroe County prothonotary, Francis J. Brodhead, constable, were among the officials present.

School Bus Aid

The Republican administration's new legislative proposal for state school bus subsidies to some private schools—mainly Roman Catholic parochial schools—is no better than an earlier bill supported by Democrats.

The new bill limits such subsidies to students in private schools not operated for a profit or charging a tuition fee. It is intended to apply to third and fourth class school districts—the smaller districts. Fourth class districts are under 5,000 population, third class districts are between 5,000 and 30,000 population.

It would affect about 143,000 of the 700,000 Catholic parochial school students in 220 third and fourth class districts.

Obviously, once the precedent is set, school bus aid would later be extended to all private and parochial schools in all school districts. It could not fairly be applied to some districts and not to others.

The parents of children in both private and public schools have reason to object to this state subsidy proposal.

The predominantly religious schools which would be affected by the new subsidies stand to lose freedom in proportion to their acceptance of state aid. With financial support goes some degree of control.

The public school parent on the other hand should not be called upon to subsidize through taxes the operations of private schools. If parents chose to send their children to private schools, they should pay the whole cost themselves.

The state has no business spending public school funds on private school bus subsidies. We opposed the earlier school bus subsidy bills and oppose the new administration bill on the same grounds.

Living Our Ideals

"We must try to eliminate discrimination due to race, color, religion, not to make others think better of us but because it is incompatible with the great ideals to which our democratic society is dedicated.

"Racial discrimination here at home has important effects on our foreign relations . . .

"The United States is widely regarded as the home of democracy and the leader of the struggle for freedom, for human rights, for human dignity.

"We are expected to be the model—no higher compliment could be paid to us. So our failure to live up to our proclaimed ideals is noted and magnified and distorted.

"These universal ideas which we have done so much to nurture have spread over the earth. The spiritual sons of the American Revolution are of every race.

"For let us remind ourselves that the great Declaration (of Independence) said, 'All men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights'—not 'All men, except those who are not white . . .'

Veteran's Guide

Q—Can I have an identification card which I can use to enter any VA hospital?

A—The VA does not issue cards for blanket admission to hospitals. Each admission is on an individual basis.

Q—I am in need of money. May I obtain a personal loan from the VA?

A—No. The various benefits granted to veterans by Congress do not include provisions for personal loans.

Q—My claim for disability pension was denied five years ago because my disability was not severe enough. How can I have my claim reconsidered?

A—Write the VA office which previously studied your claim and enclose a statement from your doctor as to the nature and severity of your disability. The VA office will then send you further instructions.

Dear Abby

It's Really Simple!

DEAR ABBY: We would like to drop a few people from our Christmas gift list, but don't know how to go about it gracefully. I'd like to notify them before the shopping season starts so they won't buy us anything. We hardly ever see them during the year and rarely talk on the phone. In fact, the last few years when we delivered gifts to each other, the gesture seemed so insincere it was embarrassing. Maybe these people would like to drop us from their Christmas gift list, too, but don't know how to go about it. Your reply in print would help many people. PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you think exchanging gifts in an atmosphere of insincerity is embarrassing wait until you try to tell them not to buy YOU anything because you aren't buying THEM anything. Take them off your gift list and send them a Christmas card. And the following Christmas you'll be off their gift list, too.

DEAR ABBY: I was married in January. I had several showers given for me and received many beautiful gifts. I am expecting a baby in September. My aunt wants to give me a baby shower. She'll be inviting exactly the same friends and relatives who gave me wedding shower gifts. Don't you think it's too soon to be asking for more gifts?

DEAR EXPECTING: Yes, Dear. Your aunt is expecting.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Hormone Wonders

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Almost every one of the activities of the human being is intimately involved with the hormones of the body. Growth, behavior, weight, nervousness, fertility, depression and accomplishment all fall within the mystic orbit of the hormone and the endocrine glands.

These ductless glands—the pancreas, the thymus, the thyroid, the adrenal, the gonads, the ovary and the pituitary—form an intricate of intercommunication. Each gland has its own built-in thermostat to supply any demands made upon it for the production of more or less hormones.

The delicate balance and sensitivity of this complex information exchange is called a homeostatic mechanism.

Exchange Messages This delicate control system can be compared to the device that automatically keeps a room at a constant temperature level. Messages are constantly being relayed from one gland to another in a fraction of a second. Each gland translates and decodes these messages and responds by sending out the exact amount of hormones to meet the body's requirements.

But besides the well-known hormones in the endocrine glands, scientists are uncovering many more subtle and less apparent hormone systems. The brain, the bone marrow and even the wall of the intestines are shown to excrete chemicals important to the hormone structure.

Barely perceptible quantities of hormones inter-act with each other and effect all physical and emotional behavior in sickness, in health at rest or in full activity. Even daily simple experiences call forth the secretion of hormones in various amounts and for various purposes.

When someone jumps out of the pathway of an approaching automobile, the anger, the flush, the palpitation, the sweating occur in an infinitesimal fraction of a moment.

Like the man said, "It couldn't happen to a nicer guy."

Sees Anti-Republican Slant: Tocks Dam; Railroads

Republican Attacks 'News Coloring'

Editor, The Daily Record: "Oh, what fools we mortals be . . ." I think Shakespeare said it; no matter who said it, it's still true. We have to see with and ears to hear with; and appear we see what we want to see and hear what we want to hear.

Are we really "reading" you? Are you trying to prove we don't really "read" you?

On Monday, July 8, on the front page of our Daily Record was blocked "HIGH SALES TAX CUTS LIQUOR, CIGARETTE SALES."

On Thursday, May 16, on the front page, was heavy-typed "YETTER ASSAILS NEW TAX" . . . and I quote from it: "Yetter claims that the tax on cigarettes and liquors would have been enough to take care of the educational program advocated by Gov. Scrantom. That's if he carried through the economy move he stressed earlier," Yetter said.

Tuesday, July 9, front page, bold type, "SCRANTON CREDIT DEFICIT CUT TO AUSTERITY" . . . O.K. I've been reading . . . and I've been looking . . . you boys have really been "cutting away" at our Governor and our Republican administration. You've hit all over the tree! . . . from taxation, to Van Zandt, to the special election for congressman.

You really CAN fool most of the people some of the time; but you CAN'T fool ALL the people all of the time! and Barnum said that one!

Taxation: we do have the narrowest base! We have NO STATE INCOME TAX!

We are also tax exempt from food, clothing, medicine, and we pay a lot less during a year in education tax than do residents of many other states. The average Pennsylvania family will pay about $12 during the coming year; in Michigan the average family will pay $161.

May I jog our memories a bit, to state that the DEMOCRATS, who at first decried any sales tax, raised it from 1 per cent to 4 percent!!!

From your editorial June 28: . . . the increased tax on certain items will MAKE borderline Pennsylvanians go to New Jersey and New York??? My Dear Editor, that practice has been going on for years . . . BEFORE taxation! Our Monroe Counties travel to other counties to spend more and save more . . . regardless of taxation. Let's quit kidding ourselves!

Van Zandt: you included an editorial from a Pittsburgh paper . . . I never Gov. Lawrence's old hometown . . . it stated "We don't owe him!"

We owe less to President Kennedy. Our country doesn't operate that way. If we did, not too many politicians would get very far.

But Van Zandt did start from the bottom of our United States Navy and by hard work and application worked himself up to a top rank. Is any naval officer overpaid? Much less a non-com? So, that if we did operate on an individual's "earning power" certainly Mr. Van Zandt would stand high in deserving.

New then, the special election July 30 which is hit again in today's paper (July 9th) on the front page and about which you wrote an editorial on June 14th entitled Special Election . . . you stated . . . "It will cost us $50,000 or more . . ."

Says Tocks Island Dam Will Flood Richest Land

Editor, The Daily Record: The reasoning behind the letter in the Record that Tocks Island Dam is needed for irrigation is difficult to follow.

Hoover Dam is built high up in the Rockies. It is in a desolate area where the land was probably obtained for nothing. The immediate surrounding of Lake Meade (formed by the dam) is an arid, boulder strewn waste, useful for nothing. The water from the dam is carried far down the mountains to where it is used for irrigation or for drinking purposes.

If a dam is built in the Delaware, it will flood the richest bottom land around here, all productive farm country. Since this is so, what will be left to irrigate? The farms are in the valleys, not in the high wooded hills.

As for people from New York and New Jersey making their summer homes here because taxes are low, that statement is made without substantiation and sounds ridiculous on the face of it. I would like to see the proof.

On the other hand, friends among summer residents have evidenced to me that the way their taxes have gone up in the last five or six years is startling.

Southern New Jersey teams with summer residents from the Philadelphia area. It hardly seems possible that they go there for the purpose of paying those high rates which your correspondent claims.

Also, it seems to me that Stroudsburg area businessmen and Philadelphia) are bemoaning that Pennsylvania has a sales tax while New Jersey does not.

There is a peculiar undercurrent in the Record letters from proponents of the dam. Some of the statements seem to be based purely on imagination; some on anticipation; some on half truths.

One is lead to believe that these against the dam are only summer residents. Nothing is further from the truth. The most rabid anti-damners are descendants of the oldest families in the Delaware valley. There is ample proof of that on both sides of the Delaware.

The anti-damners quote many facts that can be verified visually. Other information can be obtained by reading literature on the history and subject of dams. Apparently, some people believe that ignorance is bliss.

It happens that Hoover Dam, on account of siting has a life expectancy of perhaps fifty years more. This is the story of all dams: construction, siting, anguish from those who depend on the dam and eventual abandonment.

Luther Markin Explains Television Traffic Ticket

Editor, The Daily Record: A letter that I wrote to a justice of the peace was read during a TV newscast by Mr. Vince Leonard on WRVC-TV.

It will be a favor to all concerned if those who have heard reports about it, know just what happened, so I am enclosing a copy of the letter:

Mr. John C. Brady, Willow Grove, Pa.

Dear Mr. Brady: This is in answer to your summons, dated June 10. As I recall the incident I thought I could get through before the red light, but guessed wrong.

This is my first summons due to the fact that I try to obey traffic laws, not merely to avoid arrest, but also to feel like a law abiding citizen.

However, I consider this a favor, because it has reduced my conceit, and that always is a favor to anyone. Then it proves that I can be too venturesome for safety.

So here is a check for ten dollars to pay the fine and cost. I also enclose a dollar for Mr. Duff, the officer, as a token of my appreciation. Please give it to him with my best wishes. When the check returns I shall frame it.

—J. K. Morley

Your inference seems to be that this is merely a Republican "trick" . . . however, you fail to mention that California has held a recent special election, called by a Democratic Governor; or that Texas has also held such an election!

And, if the tables were turned . . . do you not think that a Democratic Governor would hesitate to call such an election to give the people of his state a representative in Congress as soon as possible?

I, as a Republican, resent deeply your "news-coloring" . . . and your out-and-out contention with the present state government. I hardly think your attitude worthy of the readers of our daily paper, or our citizens in Monroe County.

It is difficult to attack you, because you are our only newspaper; you are also a member of our Monroe County family (now) . . . and an integral part of our inermest workings.

We love you and admire you . . . we also admit we need you; but, you in turn must needs love us; realizing too, the need works both ways.

Statistically, this is a Democratic registered county; voice-wise (on major issues) it is Republican.

We are your subscribers . . . we are paying 10 cents per copy for The Daily Record; during Gov. Lawrence's administration it was raised from 5 cents per copy . . . or was it during Gov. Leader's?

One final thought . . . in all your writings about a constitutional convention, which would mean the writing of a NEW CONSTITUTION have you ever told us that to write a new Constitution would cost us a minimum of one million dollars?

Mrs. Genevieve Blatt advised a constitution revision . . . she was correct to do so; for she served on the Woodside Commission from 1957 to 1959; the Woodside Commission was paid $50,000 for their work toward a constitution revision.

The Pennsylvania Bar Association continued where the Commission left off (with no pay) for another two years to present to the legislature their suggested amendments early this year of 1963!

How very simple it then appears, to ignore one $50,000 expenditure made by the democratic administration; propose a minimum of one million dollars for a "new" item and still blast away at the current spending of $50,000 for a special election!

As we said before . . . "Oh, what fools we mortals be . . ." I say I read you, brother. I REALLY "read" you . . .

Management Featherbedding

Editor, The Daily Record: I have read with interest your editorial in the July 8 issue of the Daily Record (Railroad Union Suicide).

They have rejected the supreme court decision, which upheld the railroad management's right to eliminate unnecessary jobs—called featherbedding.

Why didn't the supreme court turn the coin over and look at the other side? The featherbedding by management—20 to 25 vice presidents from vice president in charge of operation to the low man on the "totem pole," vice president in charge of soiled linens.

Why do they have more trainmasters than Carter has pills (?) who are placed in these jobs by knowing someone and not by their capability.

I worked for a railroad company where they had trains leaving a terminal every half hour for the South and West, on holidays they would run reliefs to these trains, and only one trainmaster for the whole division. How about that?

Would you say a man who has never run an engine, or qualified as an engineer is capable of taking a job as road foreman of engines and boss over engineers who have been running engines for twenty and thirty years, also putting college boys on the trains to check equipment failure, when the train conductors have been making out these reports for years.

I'll admit there are many jobs that could be eliminated, so why not start eliminating featherbedding on the management side where the big money is spent for useless jobs.

If you will print this letter in your paper I think you will find more people on the side of the railroad man than on the side of the management.

Dutch-Clad Woman Amidst Exhibits At PM Art Show

STROUDSBURG — Illuminated, intricately lettered certificates known as "frakturs" provide both a hobby and a livelihood for Mrs. Lois Hunter, a Lancaster woman who is exhibiting her art at the Pocono Mountains Art Group outdoor show at Court House Square today.

The term "fraktur" is derived from the 16th century Gothic writing of the same name. Originally a kind of lettering, it now refers to the complete pen-painting.

Mrs. Hunter feels that fraktur painting should be considered an art rather than a craft. The general idea of this folk art is that it is a document of German-type lettering with a naive design.

Mrs. Hunter works on her own designs while people watch avidly, and fills requests for individual certificates.

She wears a gay Dutch costume while working, the type worn by the non-plain sects who came to Pennsylvania from Germany. While the style is similar to that worn by the Amish, the bonnets and aprons are gaily patterned.

Does Other Painting
Besides doing frakturs, which her husband prints for people who want to color their own, Mrs. Hunter does other types of painting.

She has decorated furniture and mailboxes with the gay, childlike yet artful designs and is even planning to paint the truck in which she carts her materials.

500 Monroe Farmers Face Fallout Dangers-Withrow

STROUDSBURG — Approximately 500 farmers, including 200 commercial and dairy farmers would be affected by a nuclear attack, according to John H. Withrow, Monroe County agricultural agent.

The main danger is fallout and the damage to cattle and stored grain that would result from fallout. "We've got to make people more conscious of the problem," said Withrow.

Reinforcing barn roofs, using baled hay as fallout protection, and using earth as a shielding material over open trench silos can make effective shelter from fallout for animals. "What People Can Do About Rural Civil Defense," a pamphlet distributed by the Monroe Co. Agricultural Assn. points out that fallout, in the form of dust particles, must be kept off food supplies and open water sources, as well as humans and animals. Only effective sheltering can provide the protection necessary from contamination.

The booklet points out that the radiation from fallout is dangerous only two or three days after the blast. If radiation passes through food supplies, they may be eaten, but if fallout particles are lodged within the food itself, it may not be eaten.

"Some counties have sent out surveys to make the farmers more conscious of it," said Withrow in reference to the measures that could be taken to protect livestock as well as human life in this area in case of nuclear attack. "Some won't do anything," but Withrow feels that "if we would get a direct hit, it would be sheer accident. The greatest danger in this area is from fallout."

Withrow suggested that farmers, as well as local residents, could simply modify their cellars, or spring houses, to make effective fallout shelters. Only simple supplies need be kept on hand: batteries, a radio, candles, and canned food and water.

No Federal Program

"My opinion is that this is a personal thing," said Withrow. "If you want a playroom in your basement, you don't ask the other taxpayers to help you with the cost." At the present time, Withrow sees no federal program for subsidizing shelters on a private or a local scale. Withrow feels that individual initiative in this area is correct, because "Most people can do it on their own."

In a really modern kitchen garbage goes down the drain... Electrically

Aren't you just a little tired of collecting garbage? Of trips outdoors in all kinds of weather? Of unsightly garbage cans? Wouldn't you like to forget about all these annoyances?

You can! With a garbage disposer, food waste is pulverized and washed right down the drain. A garbage disposer is the quick, clean, easy way to do what used to be a mighty unpleasant household chore. It costs just pennies a month. And it can be easily installed in any standard kitchen sink.

Your plumber or appliance dealer has the details. See him soon.

Miss Joan Spragle, Melvin Manhart, Jr. Exchange Vows In Christ Church Nuptials

Hamilton Square—Miss Joan Elaine Spragle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spragle, Bartonville, became the bride of Melvin H. Manhart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin H. Manhart, Sr., Bartonville, June 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin H. Manhart

Rev. Adan Bohner performed the ceremony at 2 p. m. before an altar decked with white mums and gladioli. White bows marked the family pews.

The bride, escorted by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white silk organza with an imported Chantilly lace bodice. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline with scallops of lace, sleeves which tapered to points at the wrists and highlighting of seed pearls and iridescents.

The full skirt had overlays of lace in large scalloped panels edged with lace ruffles and ended in a chapel train. Her four tiered bouffant veil of imported French silk illusion was arranged from a silk organza and lace beaded pillbox. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow sweetheart roses, white Shasta daisies and green ivy.

Miss Kathryn Ann Walters, maid of honor, Bartonville, wore a street length gown of cherry peau de sole and carried a cascade spray of white Shasta daisies with green ivy. Her wedding ring crown featured a bow and circle veil. White gloves and pearls, a gift of the bride, completed her attire.

Miss Ruthann Flad, Bartonville, was bridesmaid. Her attire was identical to that of the maid of honor. She also wore pearls, a gift of the bride.

Donna Jean Walters, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walters, Nazareth, was flower girl. She wore a pink satin dress with an embroidered bodice and full skirt. Her matching headpiece was decorated with daisies. She carried a basket of pink and white Shasta daisies and green ivy.

Allen Raish, Tannersville, acted as best man. Ushers were Robert Rehm and Richard Peet, both of Stroudsburg.

John Alleger, III, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John

Leisure Hour-MORA Clubs Hold Picnic

The annual picnic with members of both Leisure Hour and MORA Club was held Wednesday at Pine Flats.

Of the more than 70 guests, the consensus of opinion was that it was a most enjoyable outing.

Varied refreshments and picnic fare made up the menu for the guests.

Alleger, Bartonville, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spragle wore a beige silk linen dress with an Alencon lace bodice and sheath skirt. A matching lace pillbox and beige accessories completed her ensemble. She wore a corsage of pink and white sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a white silk crepe dress with yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Richard Matlock, organist, gave a pre-nuptial recital and accompanied Charles Snyder, Appenzel, who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" prior to the ceremony. While the couple knelt at the altar he sang Mallot's "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was held at Green View Guest Farm, Saylorsburg. Ivy, sweet-peas and daisies flanked the three-tier wedding cake.

For a honeymoon to Canada, Mrs. Manhart chose a beige suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Manhart is a graduate of Pocono High School and Churchman's Business College. She is employed as a secretary at Paterson-Kelley, Inc., East Stroudsburg.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Stroud Union High School and is employed at Baylor Motors, Stroudsburg.

The couple is making their home in Bartonville.

Art Show Overflows Town Square

By Pat Williams

The 13th annual Pocono Mountains Art Group-sponsored outdoor art show which opened yesterday overflowed the confines of Courthouse Square and trickled onto Monroe Street and even up N. Seventh to the intersection with Sarah St.

Artists and artisans from local sections, New Jersey and other districts in the state invaded the square yesterday at dawn with clotheslines, camp chairs and their imaginative work which was pinned, tacked, clipped, leaned or dangled for the view of any passerby. It continues to dusk today.

New to the show this year was a surprising display by G. Robert Omrod. Working with sections of Plexiglas 1/4 inch thick in various colors, Omrod, an art teacher at Spring Ford Junior High School near Valley Forge, has erected three-dimensional displays that are eye-catching.

"I call it 'basties,'" he said yesterday. "A combination of the words plastic and 'bas' from 'bas relief.'" They are in the vein of the popular conception of a bas relief but closer inspection brings up other ideas and suggests other relations.

The "Machine" is an interesting one which suggests what the title implies. Others have titles given by Omrod, but he says the title doesn't mean that much.

Another new display this season is a table of laminated wooden bowls done in maple and walnut or cedar. The bowls are hollowed out of blocks of wood which have been glued together with plastic resin and feel as if they are one single piece. Although to the casual observer they give a modern feeling, the bowls, which come in various sizes and shapes, wouldn't be too far out of place in any decor.

Another specialty this year is work done by Lois Hunter (associated story, page 5) who works in the Pennsylvania Dutch manner called "fraktur" the practice of writing and illuminating marriage certificates, or birth records.

The range of oils from landscapes to still life compositions with various artists expressing what they see on canvas was balanced by offerings in the surrealist vein . . . artists painting what they feel.

Water colors, pen and ink and other mediums may be found on the sidewalks. Jewelry, silver and that with "gem stones" from the American Southwest can be discovered. Other jewelry made of glass fused to copper offers a wide range of possibilities also.

Pastel portraits are available and clowns done "on-the-spot" for children's rooms are another feature. A rapid tour of the show disclosed also rugs which were the work of the artists, not of an ambitious housewife airing things.

The outdoor art show this year is two things—bigger and more varied. Even the show-stoppers of last year, oil on

6. Cook and cool hot dogs. Dice or slice into kidney bean or potato salad.

Different sections of the country seem to have their favorite sandwiches. I was talking to Jane Guillot (sorry I don't know her married name), formerly of Bushkill, and now living in Lakewood, Florida. She told me that one of the specialties of her locality is a toasted sandwich made of a slice of cooked ham, lettuce, tomato, and a big slice of pineapple! Sounds good, doesn't it?

There are many Finnish people living in her neighborhood and one of their popular sandwiches is grilled cheese. Place thin slices of Bermuda onion between two slices of cheese, cover with two slices of bread, then grill, and she says it's scrumptious. I believe it, too!

For an easy supper and a treat for the family, make a big sandwich that can be cut off in hunks. This is a good one:

Pizzaburger 1 loaf French bread 1 pound ground beef one-third cup grated Parmesan cheese 3/4 cup finely chopped onion

1/4 cup chopped ripe olives 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 to 1 teaspoon oregano Dash pepper 1 1/2 oz. can tomato paste (two-thirds cup) 3 tomatoes, peeled and thinly sliced 5 slices sharp American cheese, halved diagonally

Cut loaf lengthwise in half. Combine meat, Parmesan cheese, onion, olives, seasonings, and tomato paste. Spread evenly on each half loaf. Broil about 5 inches from heat 12 minutes or till meat is done. Alternate tomato and cheese slices down the top. Broil 1 to 2 minutes longer or just until cheese begins to melt. Cut each loaf in 4 or 5 slices.

When you have leftover chicken and ham slices, make this tasty sandwich:

Monte Cristo Sandwiches

Use 3 slices of bread for each sandwich. Butter first slice; cover with a slice each of ham and chicken. Butter both sides of sec-pared in simple form. One method of stopping off cries of hunger from a fresh-from-swimming family.

Linda Has Recipes For Camping And Hot Dogs

By Linda Pipher Daily Record Home Economist

Billy had his first opportunity this week to use his Christmas present from Aunt Jane. The tent, kept carefully in its box all winter, was taken out with great fanfare and excitement. Billy, David, and Peter Bollier, wanted to pitch it in the woods, but Mother wanted it in the field between the two houses. It's a much better feeling to look out the window and see the tent — and also know how late the flashlight is being used!

It's been a mighty cold week for July as you know, and we've convinced them to sleep in clothes inside their sleeping bags. About 10:30 p. m., Billy came trooping through the field, into the house, just to inform us (with very big eyes), "It's awful dark out there!" But back he went, and by the time he went to bed, all was quiet in yon field. We left lights on in the house, and all doors unlocked, just in case! When I got up in the morning, I didn't see any signs of life from the tent and thought they were still asleep. But when I saw Domino take a flying leap inside the tent, and there were no blood-curling howls, I figured something had happened. Then Trudi Bollier called to tell me they were sound asleep in the bedroom; about 5 a.m. they had decided to give up the camping life.

But camping is much a part of a boy's life as hot dogs are in all children's lives. What's summer without a hot dog in a bun, especially roasted on a stick over a roaring fire? But there's lots more ways to enjoy hot dogs, and we mothers find they are not good only as sandwiches, but also help stretch the food budget. Here are some ways to use hot dogs that perhaps you haven't thought of.

Ways With Hot Dogs

1. Mix baked beans, chopped onion, mustard, and pickle relish together and spread on hot dog buns. Top with a slice of cheese and a split frank. Eat cold or heat through in the oven. Good either way.

2. Teenagers like the bun spread with peanut butter before adding hot frank.

3. Make a BLT: beans, lettuce, tomato, and frank sandwich.

4. Add penny-thin slices of hot dogs to cream of mushroom or NINI'S GIFT — Gene Rossi, president of Pocono Mountains Rotary Club presents a train case from the club, to Miss Ingrid "Nini" Helm, Swedish Rotary exchange student at a farewell dinner Wednesday at Oak Springs Club.

Nini Has Mixed Emotions On Eve Of Departure

Miss Ingrid "Nini" Helm, Swedish Rotary-sponsored exchange student, was guest of honor at an informal dinner Wednesday night at Oak Springs Club.

Members of the Pocono Mountain Rotary Club arranged the steak dinner attended by more than 70 people. P. Jay Shumaker acted as chief aided by other Rotarians.

Miss Helm received a train case from the club, presented by Gene Rossi, president, as a going away present. She leaves Wednesday to return to Sankt Olof, Sweden.

For the past year, Miss Helm has been a guest in four Rotarian's homes. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. George Webb, Cresco; Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Headrick, Mount Pocono; Mr. and Mrs. John Koerner, Pocono Manor; and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd LaBar, Mountainhome.

During her stay, Miss Helm attended Pocono Mountain Joint High School and was crowned queen of the Junior Prom in the Spring. She was active in sports and received the school letter for basketball activities.

Miss Helm spoke briefly on her stay with the four families and of her experiences. "I'm leaving with mixed emotions," she told the guests. "My year at Pocono Mountain High School will not be considered formal schooling in Sweden," she went on.

"But I was glad to have the chance to learn another language," she added. Miss Helm explained that prior to her arrival in the United States she had been taught English, "British-style."

"My teacher wasn't too pleased that I would learn American slang," she smiled.

The 16-year-old miss was sponsored on her trip here by her local Rotary Club in Sweden which cooperated with the Pocono Mountains Rotary Club.

Previously, she and Miss Nancy Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wood, Buck Hill Falls, had occasions to compare notes. Miss Wood will spend a year abroad sponsored by the local Rotary chapter, leaving later in the month.

Entertainment for the farewell dinner was arranged by Clyde Gierse who introduced Capt. Joseph F. McVaine and Cpl. Thomas Anton of the Hazleton Barracks, Pennsylvania State Police. The men showed a film on highway safety.

William Learn Takes Bride In California Nuptials

Miss Judy Kay Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Coleman, La Crescenta, Calif., and William E. Learn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Learn, Stroudsburg, RD 5, exchanged wedding vows in the First Congregational Church of Glendale, Calif., July 4.

Rev. William Gregory performed the ceremony before a candle-lit altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade street length dress with pink accessories. She carried a white Bible, belonging to the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Bertha Shaw, with a pink rosebud corsage on top.

Mrs. Shaw of Glendale, was matron of honor. Miss Anita Learn, Stroudsburg, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Prior to the ceremony, she was accompanied by Eugene Learn, the bridegroom's brother to the altar where they lit the candles.

The bridal attendants were attired in pink georgette street length dresses and carried baskets with white daisies and pink ribbons.

Bland Coleman, the bride's brother, La Crescenta, acted as best man. Ushers were Eugene Learn and Alfred Shaw, Glendale.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Coleman wore a beige chiffon over taffeta sheath with beige accessories and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Learn is a graduate of Glendale High School and attended Glendale College. She is employed by the Glendale Post Office.

Mr. Learn is a 1956 graduate of Stroudsburg High School and Glendale College. He is employed in the Glendale Post Office.

The couple will make their home at 2320 Del Mar Rd., Montrose, Calif.

Hilljillies 4-H Members Sew, Cook At Meet

The second meeting of the Mount Zion Hilljillies 4-H club was held Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith.

The cooking group completed their first achievement, baking muffins, and served them with pear salad. The skill of the sewing group was tested, as they tried various sewing techniques.

Miss Margaret McLaren and her assistant, Miss Louise Marely were present to assist the girls, along with Mrs. Helen Lee, Mrs. Doris Teada, Mrs. Florence Haney, and Mrs. Marion Lock-witch.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, July 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haney.

Vesper Service On Big Pocono

Tannersville Methodist Church will hold a vesper service on Big Pocono Sunday at 7 p.m.

Special music will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder. Rev. Joseph Leggeri, pastor, will bring the message.

In case of rain, the service will be held in the church.

Joint Boards' Picnic Supper At Shawnee

A picnic and covered dish supper at the home of Mrs. Gladys Hintz, Shawnee-on-Delaware, July 8 brought together the executive boards of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church WSCS and Wesleyan Service Guild. Mrs. Hintz is the new WSCS president.

After the dinner a business meeting was held to discuss activities for the Fall season. There were 20 members attending.

Plans discussed included those for the Caravan of the North District of Philadelphia Conference which is to be held at the church Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Cherry Festival This Afternoon

Canadensis — Preparations have been made for the Cherry Festival to be held this afternoon on the lawn of the Canadensis Moravian Church at 2 p.m.

Members of the Ladies Guild will be aided by their husbands and congregational members to set the tables for the supper which will be served at 5 p.m.

Highlight of the menu will be cherries in numerous forms. The bazaar table, featuring the women's fancy work will also be open during the hours of the meal.

Craft Show At ESSC July 24-27

EAST STROUDSBURG — The 16th annual Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen State Fair and Exhibition will be held at the East Stroudsburg State College gymnasium, East Stroudsburg, July 24, 25, 26, 27.

The fair is open to the public from 1 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday.

More than 1,000 members of the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen in 14 chapters throughout the State will participate. Craftsmen from the various Chapters will enter their best works in the exhibit in competition for prizes.

After the judging, items will be for sale, every piece being the individual work of a member of the Guild.

Each day of the fair there will be demonstrations of many types of crafts such as pottery making, weaving, wood working, jewelry, rug making, leatherwork, tray decorating, silk screening and ceramics.

This year a new feature will be added to the fair. Each morning seminar demonstrations will be held as a part of the educational program. On Wednesday morning only, Jan Ozo of the Willet Stained Glass Studios will hold a special seminar on "Faceted Glass".

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings from 9 to 12 there will be 3 different seminars. Included are "Designing and Making of Decorative Papers" by Barbara White of New York; "Bark Printing on Fabric" by Sara Lisker of Newtown Square, Pa.; "Cutting and Printing of a Wood Cut" by Fay Freedman of Springfield, Pa.

A fashion show will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. featuring handwoven materials. Members of the Guild will model.

U.S. Will Not Interfere

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.S. spokesman said Friday the United States has no intention of interfering with the financial operations of the Cuban mission to the United Nations and "we are now working out details so this can be achieved."

Cuba complained to Secretary-General U Thant Thursday night that the action taken by the United States in freezing Cuba's assets had affected funds needed to operate the U.N. mission.

U Thant Cited

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The city of Florence Friday made U.N. Secretary-General U Thant an honorary citizen.

Utilities Plan Tocks Stations

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (AP) — Three New Jersey utilities expect to file a formal application next month on their proposal to construct two storage generating stations in the Delaware River at a cost of $80 million.

The proposal was outlined to Gov. Richard J. Hughes in Trenton yesterday by representatives of the Jersey Central Power and Light Company, the New Jersey Power and Light Company and Public Service Electric and Gas Co.

The utilities' plan would use the projected Tocks Island dam and a second smaller Delaware River dam about a mile downstream at Labor's Island.

Rodgers, Charles In Playoff For British Championship

ST. ANNE'S, England (AP)—Phil Rodgers, a pudgy ex-Marine from La Jolla, Calif., and Bob Charles of New Zealand, the only top-flight left-handed pro golfer in the world, shot steady par fours on the final hole Friday and tied for the British Open Golf Championship.

They will play off over 36 holes of the 6,757-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course Saturday.

Rodgers and Charles finished with 72-hole totals of 277, one stroke over the Open record 276 posted by Arnold Palmer at Troon last year. Palmer sliced to a final round 76 and finished at 294—17 strokes back—in his try for his third straight championship. He finished in a tie for 26th place.

But it was Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio strong boy and U.S. Masters champion, who let the tournament slip from his grasp during the fourth round. Nicklaus, playing ahead of Rodgers and Charles, knocked in a 17-foot putt for a birdie three at the 16th hole and seemed to have his first British Open firmly in hand.

However, he knocked a two-iron over the green at the par four 17th, fluffed his first approach and settled for a five. He hit his drive into a bunker on the 18th and got another five.

That left it up to Rodgers and Charles. They matched Nicklaus' three at the 16th, got fours on the 17th, and while the crowd of 5,000 gathered around the home green both reached it in two.

Charles was about 35 feet away Rodgers only 15. Charles putted some 30 inches past and Rodgers left his putt nine inches short.

Ball Wobblers
The 25-year-old ex-Marine putted out, although the ball wobbled on the edge for a fraction of a second. Then Charles calmly canned his to force the playoff.

Rodgers had rounds of 67-69-71 and a final 69.

Charles shot 68-72-66 and 71. His third round 66 was listed as a course record, since the lines have been lengthened and toughened since Peter Thomson of Australia shot a 63 in 1958.

Nicklaus had 71-67-70 and a final 70 for his 278.

Kel Nagle of Australia who defeated Palmer by one stroke in the 1960 Open, finished with 283 for fourth place.

Thomson, only a stroke off the pace set by Charles after 54 holes, sided to a 78 and finished fifth with 285.

Player 10 Off
Gary Player of South Africa, the 1959 winner, finished with 287—10 strokes off the leaders.

Palmer, who took a rest from golf for a month and then came back to win two of the next three tournaments, said after the final round that he was tired again and may take another rest after he plays the PGA championship in Dallas next week.

"I was just bad," he said. "I'm tired. I lost my timing early in this tournament and never seemed to regain it. I may take a rest again."

The final day of play, with 36 holes scheduled, opened with Rodgers in front by one stroke. Thomson second and Nicklaus two strokes behind him in third. Charles was five strokes back.

WEST END, the defending champs of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League who have apparently found their hitting shoes in recent weeks, goes after a 12th win for the season and sixth in a row tomorrow when they travel to Bushkill.

The Stroudsburg A's, meanwhile, still trailing the Gilbert nine by one mere game, hope to chalk up their 11th victory in a road engagement with the last-place Lakers of Saylorsburg. Bowmanstown entertains Reiders in the another Sunday circuit tilt.

West End has been almost indestructible since their upset loss to Reiders back on June 9. Since then, they have knocked off—in order—Bushkill, Bowmanstown, Stroudsburg, Saylorsburg and Reiders.

During that same span, the S-burg A's have been flailing with three wins against two losses which dropped them into second place.

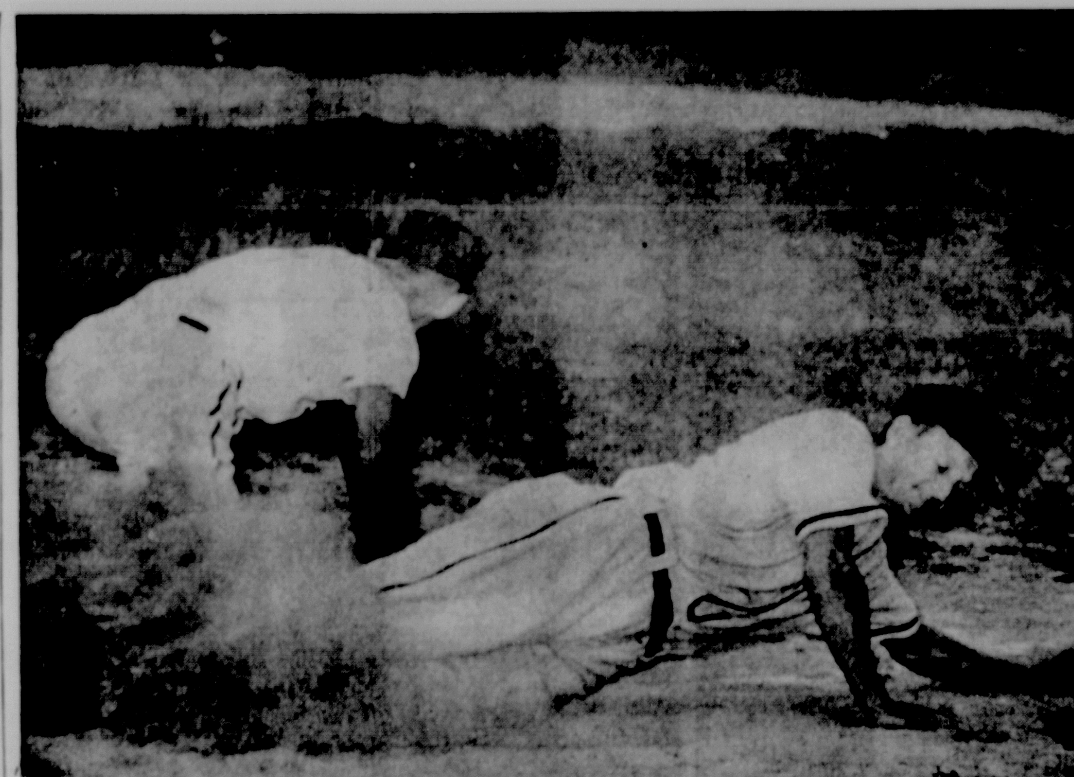

Bushkill—West End's opponent tomorrow—in that same interim as they zipped above the 500 mark last week and currently hold sole possession of third place.

WEST END, the defending champs of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League who have apparently found their hitting shoes in recent weeks, goes after a 12th win for the season and sixth in a row tomorrow when they travel to Bushkill.

The Stroudsburg A's, meanwhile, still trailing the Gilbert nine by one mere game, hope to chalk up their 11th victory in a road engagement with the last-place Lakers of Saylorsburg. Bowmanstown entertains Reiders in the another Sunday circuit tilt.

West End has been almost indestructible since their upset loss to Reiders back on June 9. Since then, they have knocked off—in order—Bushkill, Bowmanstown, Stroudsburg, Saylorsburg and Reiders.

During that same span, the S-burg A's have been flailing with three wins against two losses which dropped them into second place.

Bushkill—West End's opponent tomorrow—in that same interim as they zipped above the 500 mark last week and currently hold sole possession of third place.

'Old Timers' Stun B.R. Stars, 10-5

STROUDSBURG — The "Old Timers," a group of ex-ballplayers who serve mostly in advisory and coaching capacities today, recalled on their youth yesterday to gain a 10-5 decision over the Monroe County Babe Ruth League All-Stars.

The stars were throttled quite well at the plate, with the exception of young Larry Ford who belted a home run and triple and got three of his team's five hits.

Ray Gallagher and Bill Bisbing got the only other two safeties for the oldsters. Bisbing scored a pair of runs in each of the first and second innings. The Old Timers held a 4-1 lead until the fourth when the All Stars took a momentary 5-4 edge with a four-run fourth.

But the oldsters made like youngsters in the fifth when they banged across five tallies to score the decisive runs of the contest.

Waive Boxing Rule?
DETROIT (AP)—Michigan may waive its two-minute round rule after all for the Kenny Lane-Paul Armstead fight that is billed in the state for the world lightweight championship.

"We're going to ask the boxing board for a waiver for the championship attraction only," State Boxing Commissioner Dave Gudelsky said Friday. "Lane and Armstead have asked to waive the two-minute round, they feel they're in good condition."

Gudelsky had said Thursday all of Michigan's new rules, aimed at boxing safety, would be in effect for the Aug. 19 bout at Saginaw, Mich.

Michigan, since the deaths of beaten champions Benny (Kid) Parrot and Davey Moore, has replaced the standard three-minute round with a two-minute round. The interval between rounds was increased from one minute to 90 seconds.

Gudelsky said he and the four members of his board will meet July 20 to consider waiving only the two-minute round rule of the 12-pounder. The 10-second rest period, the mandatory eight-count for knockdowns, the three-knock-down rule and the eight instead of six-ounce glove rule would remain in force, he said.

For This Year Little League Has 1st Death

Death of two youngsters within 24 hours of each other, increased the total of fatalities in the diamond sport to four for this season.

Eddie Justiss, 14, died Friday, six days after he was hit in the head by an overthrow from third to first base in the warmups before a game at his hometown of Jena, La. last Saturday night.

Bruce Sloat, a 12-year-old Little Leaguer, died in a Jackson, Miss. hospital Thursday night less than two hours after being hit in front of an ear in a warmup session.

Justiss played in the game for a time after being hit, but was taken to a hospital in Alexandria, La., when his vision began to fail. He underwent surgery Monday. Doctors said death was due to cerebral contusion and lacerations.

Young Sloat was hit by a thrown ball that bounced on the ground before it hit him. He threw the ball back, rubbed his head and collapsed. He was hurried to a hospital where he died.

It was the first death of the year reported by Little League headquarters which reported two in 1962. Approximately 1,250,000 boys are engaged in Little League play.

2 Scholastic Deaths
The two deaths in April were in schoolboy baseball. One resulted when a boy was hit by a foul ball while sitting on the players' bench during a game.

Thomas McCollum, a 15-year-old high school sophomore, died in Denver two weeks after he was hit by the foul ball while sitting on the bench. McCollum was an outfielder on the Cherry Creek High School team and also played basketball.

David Bremser, 14-year-old son of an Omaha radio executive, died in an Omaha hospital April 19 of a head injury suffered when he was struck on the head by a thrown ball during a school game.

Bremser was wearing a plastic helmet when he was sent in as a pinch hitter but he turned from the ball and was struck below the helmet. He suffered an apparent concussion but appeared to be recovering before he lapsed into a coma and died. He was an eighth grader at Christ the King School.

Denied Franchises
Clarence Robinson of Des Moines Maurice Axmear of Webster and Charles Knoblauch of Carroll testified that their leagues were denied franchises this year when they purchased insurance locally and refused to go through national headquarters at Williamsport, Pa.

The insurance company attempted to show that the franchises were rejected through actions taken by Little League headquarters and not because of decisions involving American Casualty.

Dr. Creighton Hale of Williamsport, vice president of Little League Baseball, Inc., testified that the Little League decided all teams should be insured through the same company to keep costs of premiums down.

Hale said that all teams were advised of the Little League's decision and could remain affiliated with the Little League if they wished.

Hale testified that in his opinion the insurance secured locally by the three unchartered Iowa Little Leagues did not have adequate compensation for dental injuries.

Total premium paid to American Casualty for Little League insurance is $898,000. Hale said. An agent of the company at Williamsport gets a 2.5 per cent commission, he said. That is about $22,500.

Phillies Trim Giants, 7-5
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Doubles by Roy Stevens, Don Demeter and Clay Dalrymple sparked two big Philadelphia rallies Friday night and drove in all the runs as the Phillies defeated San Francisco 7-5 despite three Giant homers.

The loss dropped the Giants five games back of the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-0 victors at New York.

Willie McCovey hit two homers, his 25th and 26th, for the Giants and Harvey Kuenn added another against winner Art Mahaffey, who left in the eighth.

Huge Purses Await Winners In Scattered Races Today

Fifty horses will be shooting for purses of more than $425,000 in feature races at five major tracks Saturday, with $100,000 stakes at Arlington Park, Delaware Park and Hollywood Park, the $75,000 Dwyer at Aqueduct and the $50,000 Monmouth Handicap at Monmouth.

Added money increases the value of each race.

Chateaugay, John Galbreath's winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont, will be favored in the Dwyer at Aqueduct where he will carry 125 pounds in the 1¼-mile test. Crecman and Outing Class are expected to be the lead threats in the field of 11.

Top Weighted
Candy Spots, beaten by Chateaugay in the Derby and Belmont, is top weighted at 126 pounds in the $100,000 American Derby at Arlington Park, which drew a field of six for the 1¼-mile race. Chief interest is the rematch of Candy Spots and B. Major, the 9-1 shot who scored an upset in the recent $100,000 Chicagoan.

Crimson Satan is pecking 125 pounds, including jockey Herbie Hines, in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup in California with 11 entered. Native Diver, 121, and

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2). For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Diamonds And Fashions Have Common Bond

By Bobby Westbrook

Daily Record Family Fare Editor

(BOBBY WESTBROOK, Daily Record Family Fare Editor, is attending the preview of Fall fashions at the showing of the New York Couture Group this week. She will report daily on the fashions presented for the Ottaway Newspapers.)

New York — Diamonds and a mail-order catalogue have a lot more in common than you might think. In an otherwise somewhat fragmented world, fashions are in many respects already one world, and were the common bond at two dinners for the nation's fashion press attending the New York Couture Groups showing of Fall and Winter fashions.

The Diamond Dinner, sponsored by N. W. Ayres for the New York diamond merchants for the DeBeers Mines was held at the Waldorf Astoria with Johnny Desmond as the featured singer. One of his songs was, he said, a favorite of his Italian mother, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" (for D.R.: written by the Poconos' favorite Pennsylvania Dutchman, George Graff).

The Sears-Roebuck dinner was held in the Persian Room at the Plaza and featured Betty Johnson who included a group of songs from the Johnson Family Gospel Singing days in honor of her older brother, a minister, who is visiting her here. Introducing him she said, "He works on Sunday when the Persian Room is closed" to which he gracefully replied, "I enjoyed this service, too."

Obviously the fashion press enjoyed both of these "services" which both featured fashions as painlessly as possible. The Diamond merchants showed them on top models posed by Italian tables, wearing diamonds worth a king's ransom and dresses designed by Norman Norell worth a queen's whole clothing allowance. Sears showed theirs on models, straight from the catalogue, without comment, trusting the fashion press to recognize their fashion worthiness.

World of Difference

There's no sense pretending that there isn't a world of difference between a Norman Norell original and a dress you order from a catalogue. They both aren't "high" fashion, but they both were good fashions. Fashion may be one world but within that world there is infinite variety. Even within the individual collections of the couture designers there are not just one but many style trends.

This late in press week, the weary fashion editors need to be startled into a recognition of those trends and are likely to pick out only the most dramatic. Oleg Cassini whose most famous customer, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, is expecting, did not show maternity fashions. Far from it, since in this collection he often returns to the "Body Beautiful" lines for which he was famous in the pre-Kennedy days.

There is his "bossanova at its best" with large disc-like petals at the hem that revolve like those coiled springs of Slinky toys. There are Cleopatra necklines, oveled deep and slashed. Most startling is his white floor-length tennis dress completely paved with sequins: long sleeves, overblouse and tennis v-neck outlined in black jet.

There was a showing of maternity clothes by Page Boy with progressively more pregnant models including the designer herself who was over due, but that deserves a story all its own.

Tulip Silhouette

David Gothe (D.R. only: whose fashions were featured at the Poconos' Laurel Ball this June) won fresh laurels through his new designer, Bernard Brownere. He, too, believes in the feminine figure and follows it by seaming inspired by the petals of a giant tulip. In his tulip silhouette, the panels and seams start at the sleeves, curve in at the waist and take the petal curve to width at the hipline. He, too, uses fabulous jeweled embroidery, often placed on the sleeves for a look of medieval splendor. He too uses the floor-length tennis sweater to good effect.

With Samuel Winston also on the afternoon schedule fashion editors' eyes were dazzled with more jewels. His designer, Roxane, stresses the high-bosomed silhouette. In a group of town suits she uses kidskin stenciled in ocelot and zebra. Her knit suits are touched with velvet, beading, and satin.

Branell skipped the jeweled tennis dress in favor of a back-belted trench coat topping an overdress with its own jeweled-on cabochon necklace, and an all over bugle-beaded lumber jacket. Branell is one of the few designers to show the short cropped jacket this season.

Trench Coat Styling

Originala features the trench coat for real. In beige whipcord it could take its place right in a foreign intrigue film: double-breasted, epauletted, widely-belted and probably with an oilskin-lined pocket. Since coats represent probably the largest single investment in a woman's wardrobe, they were taking a close look at the originala line:

It was a "Gorblimey look" with raglan sleeves, welted seams, sleeve or shoulder straps, shirt front details usually in thick double-faced meltons or whipcords. The shoulder line is arched, the silhouette ranges from shaped coats, almost but not quite fitted, to straight and moderately full. There are no extremely full coats, and sleeves are long to bracelet length.

Hattie Carnegie, somewhat of a classic in her own right, has gone to Greece for her colors, blended weaves of blue/green of the Aegean; Corinthian and terra cotta, Olympic flame/garnet. The silhouette is a plumb line, straight at shoulders and back, carved under the bosom. The Carnegie suit has its own custom blouse in jersey or velvet, its own custom hat, its own custom look.

Elegantly Inconspicuous

Classics of a different type featured the Vera Maxwell collection. She strives to make her customers elegantly inconspicuous. Throughout one group she uses "Covert" colors, heather, bracken, gorse, foggy dew in tweeds originated to make the hunter inconspicuous on the moors. Maxwell suits might not make up sit up and take notice when you entered a room, but they would grow on you across a bridge table or at the presiding officer's dais. Norfolk jacket with Edwardian sleeves, poacher's cape coat, shaped Chesterfield or riding habit suit they all look like happy hunting.

Fashions are fine—but food is essential. During press week, the press is often fed by the people who make the material from which the fashions are made. Burlington Mills whose 200 plants are located near almost everybody's hometown entertained at a luncheon matinee showing in the Cotillion Room at the Pierre. Du Pont did a fast-paced show at a luncheon at the Plaza with newspaper mock-ups as a background to carry their headline news like "Beatnik Fin; Sweetnik In."

Vanity Fair Mills, bless them, treated the fashion press to breakfast in their own hotel rooms, a luxury not less appreciated by the weary press because there were no fashions to distract them while they ate. It's bad enough having fashion models insisting on parading through your dreams. They're much less soporific than sheep.

A Fall 1963 flashback to the medieval in slim jewelled sleeves for Gothe's red silk crepe dinner dress. The encrusted embroidery is in matching color crystal.

Double-breasted and furred—Oleg Cassini's Fall 1963 theatre costume in beige diagonal wool with sheared beaver collar and cuffs. The dress is a sleeveless shift with oval neckline.

By Branell—a Fall 1963 jerkin costume with a muffling amber for neckline. The dress and jerkin—collared with the fur—are in vicuna-colored American wool. The jerkin buttons in back, and the dress has a back belt.
